

SITE LICENSE AGREEMENT

from Duke University Press

for Use of the Electronic Version of

DUKE MATHEMATICAL JOURNAL

Volumes 1-100

Duke University Press, at Box 90660 Duke University, Durham NC 27708-0660 USA, as Owner and Publisher of the scholarly journal Duke Mathematical Journal (hereinafter referred to as DMJ), hereby grants to University of California, San Diego Libraries (Name of Licensee)

a nontransferable and nonexclusive annual right and license to access, receive, disseminate locally, and use the electronic database of the first hundred volumes of DMJ (hereinafter referred to as DMJ 100), according to the procedures, terms, and conditions set forth in this Agreement; and with the signature below Licensee accepts these terms.

1. Scope of License

Access to an electronic database of articles from Duke Mathematical Journal, volumes 1-100, will be made available to all Internet Protocol (IP) addresses within the domain of the Licensee, as described at the end of this document. All members of the Licensee's campus or institutional community who are authorized to use the computers within this domain and all walk-ins are deemed Authorized Users of the site license. For an organization with locations in more than one city, ~~or with multiple locations in one city~~, each location is considered to be a separate site and would require separate license agreements unless a separate agreement can be negotiated between Duke University Press and Licensee (with or without additional subscription fees being required by Duke University Press). The Licensee may not provide access to faculty, students, or staff of Licensee when they are using a computer that is neither within the institution's domain nor connected to a proxy server that is within that domain, unless special prior arrangements have been made with the Duke University Press.

2. Access and Availability

Licensees will have two access options to DMJ 100; subscription on an annual basis or outright purchase for a one-time fee.

License Option:

- Annual Subscription to DMJ 100
- Outright purchase of DMJ 100

Duke University Press, either directly or through a contractor, shall use all reasonable endeavors to make access available on a 24-hour basis. But if access is suspended or interrupted for fault or defect occurs that prevents access, Duke University Press's liability shall be limited to using all reasonable efforts to restore access as soon as is reasonably practicable.

3. Format

The DMJ articles will be formatted electronically as PDF™ and DjVu™ (another image compression technology). Minimum software/hardware requirements for access to these files are a computer with access to the World Wide Web through the network of the subscribing institution, a Web browser (such as Netscape™ or Internet Explorer™), and Adobe's Acrobat Reader™. Duke University Press reserves the right to change the format in which the electronic files are made available, after appropriate notification of Licensee, should changes in technology make such changes useful or necessary. Every effort will be made by Duke University Press to allow simple and convenient access by Licensee to the electronic versions of DMJ 100 articles at all times, but no guarantee is made or implied by this License Agreement as to the form in which the DMJ files will be usable by Licensee.

4. Permitted Use and Prohibitions

Authorized Users may download, save, and print DMJ 100 articles from the database for their own noncommercial educational and research use, but may not further disseminate these articles in their electronic form without express written permission from Duke University Press. Without such permission, access to the DMJ 100 articles absolutely must be restricted to the faculty, staff, students, and authorized on-site library users on a single university campus or other similar institution. It is strictly prohibited for the Licensee to download copies of the database for archival use. (Licensees who select the purchase option will be provided electronic files upon request. See Section 6.)

The Licensee will exercise reasonable vigilance to ensure that only Authorized Users access files from DMJ 100. Provisions for sharing by Licensee of the electronic versions of DMJ 100 articles with persons outside of Licensee's campus or institution, or with other institutions affiliated with Licensee, may be negotiated between Duke University Press and Licensee (with or without additional subscription fees being required by Duke University Press, depending on the particular situation and the effect of the sharing on the market for DMJ 100). Any such amendments will not be valid unless attached in writing to this License Agreement. Barring such negotiated amendments to this Agreement, any sharing or dissemination of the electronic versions of DMJ 100 articles between institutions is strictly prohibited.

Interlibrary loan: A hard copy printed from the electronic files of DMJ 100 may be supplied to another institution by mail or fax or secure transmission using Ariel or its equivalent (whereby the electronic file is deleted immediately after printing). The supply of such copies must conform to CONTU guidelines or similar restrictions to "fair use" provisions under copyright law.

Scholarly Sharing. Authorized Users may transmit to a third party in hard copy or electronically, minimal, insubstantial amounts of the Licensed Materials for personal use or scholarly, educational, or scientific research or professional use but in no case for resale or commercial purposes.

5. Breach

Licensee shall use reasonable efforts to protect the Licensed Materials from any use that is not permitted under this Agreement. In the event of any unauthorized use of the Licensed Materials by an Authorized User, (a) Licensor may terminate such Authorized User's access to the Licensed Materials, (b) Licensor may terminate the access of the Internet Protocol ("IP") address(es) from which such unauthorized use occurred, and/or (c) Licensee shall terminate such Authorized User's access to the Licensed Materials upon Licensor's request. Licensor shall take none of the steps described in this paragraph without first providing a notice to Licensee and cooperation with the Licensee to avoid recurrence of any unauthorized use. The breaching party shall have sixty (60) days from the receipt of notice to cure the alleged breach and to notify the non-breaching party in writing that cure has been effected. If the breach is not cured within the sixty (60) day period, the non-breaching party shall have the right to terminate the Agreement without further notice. Under ordinary circumstances, should a possible breach of this Agreement by the Licensee or an Authorized User come to the attention of Duke University Press, Duke University Press will inform Licensee and provide a reasonable amount of time (ordinarily 30 days) for investigation and, if necessary, correction of the breach. But Duke University Press shall have the right immediately to suspend this License Agreement, without need for provision of proof, if it determines that Licensee has committed a serious and material breach of the Agreement that is likely to continue. For this purpose, each individual user will be considered a representative of Licensee in determining whether a breach of the access provisions of this License Agreement has occurred i.e. Duke University Press reserves the right to suspend the agreement, whether or not the breach originates from institutional action or from the action of ~~an individual authorized user at that institution, until it is assured that the problem has been corrected. If it is feasible to cut off the access of a single offending user, rather than the entire institution, that will be done.~~

The right of termination under this section shall be in addition to any other right or remedy any party may have at law or in equity. Licensee acknowledges and agrees that a serious breach by Licensee of the access provisions of this Agreement may cause irreparable injury to Duke University Press and might be subject to injunctive and other equitable remedies against such breach.

If Duke University Press is in breach of this agreement, Licensee will inform the Press in writing and allow 30-60 days to mend the breach. If the breach is not cured, Licensee may terminate the agreement upon written notice and receive a pro-rated refund.

6. Duration

If Licensee selects subscription access to DMJ 100 and cancels its subscription, with cancellation defined as failure to pay for the current year by March 1 of the subscription year, Licensee's access to DMJ 100 will end.

Licensee may decide at any point to purchase outright the content of DMJ 100 rather than pay the annual subscription fees. Duke University Press will provide all purchasing libraries with the electronic files of DMJ 100 on a physical storage medium, in their current form as of the date of the purchase, and these files may
